

Before the Monsoon Clouds Come the Subtex Clouds

The monsoon clouds are expected to be on time this year and bring widespread welcome rains to a parched India. Anutone does its bit by ringing in Subtex Clouds for interior acoustics!!!

The worldwide trend is for open-plenum ceilings and Subtex Clouds comes in right there:

- Twice the sound absorption on both surfaces of panel
- Half the surface area of ceiling for treatment
- Four times as efficient as regular ceilings

Like monsoon clouds, Subtex Clouds come in different finishes and shapes:

- Subtex Clouds NRC - fabric finish with choice of warm colours
- Subtex Clouds KSL - vinyl finish with choice of vibrant colours
- Subtex Shapes - hexagon or circle or square - what shape you want?

Ride the Wave at the High Tide Subtex Wave Takes you Across

The open plenum ceiling story continues with acoustic baffles suspended vertically

- Twice the sound absorption on both surfaces of panel
- Fraction of the surface area of ceiling for treatment
- Multiple times as efficient as regular ceilings

Like waves in oceans, rivers and lakes, Subtex Wave come in different finishes and formats:

- Subtex Wave NRC - fabric finish with choice of warm colours
- Subtex Wave KSL - vinyl finish with choice of vibrant colours
- Install options - can be suspended horizontally or vertically

Additionally both, Subtex Clouds and Subtex Wave are

- Modular and discrete acoustic panels
- Can be easily installed after full furnishing of interiors
- Subtex Wave allows for skylighting and is ideal for atrium spaces
